1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matsuoka et al (US 6,466,395).

3. Regarding Claim 1, Matsuoka et al (Figs.1 and 3-6) shows a magnetic recording and reproduction apparatus, comprising a main chassis (1) having a rotatable head cylinder (2) provided thereon and a sub chassis (27) on which a tape cassette is mountable; wherein the sub chassis is movable with respect to the main chassis between a tape cassette mountable position and a tape pull-out completion position, and the tape cassette mountable position is a position at which the tape cassette is mountable on the sub chassis and the tape pull-out completion position (Col 5, line 43-47) is a position at which information recording to and information reproduction from the tape which has been pulled out from the tape cassette and has been wound around the rotatable head cylinder, can be performed; and a portion of the main chassis along a forward end thereof is cut out (Fig. 3, cutout 1') toward the rotatable head cylinder.

4. Regarding Claim 2, Matsuoka et al (Figs.1 and 3-6) shows a magnetic recording and reproduction apparatus, further comprising: a rotatable capstan (3) for driving the tape; a supply reel stand (28) engaged with a supply reel of the tape cassette; a take-in reel stand (29) engaged with a take-in reel of the tape cassette and an idler (31) engaged with the supply reel stand or the take-in reel stand in accordance with a rotation direction of the capstan so as to drive and rotate the supply reel stand or the take-in reel stand; wherein, the idler is pivotably provided on the main chassis (1), and at least one of sections of the portion of the main chassis along the forward end thereof each section being to a side of the pivoting shaft of the idler is cut out to a position beyond the pivoting shaft of the idler toward the rotatable head cylinder (See Figure 1).

5. Regarding Claim 3, Matsuoka et al (Figs.1 and 3-6) shows a magnetic recording and reproduction apparatus, wherein the forward end of the main chassis (1) has an L-shaped cross-section (Fig.5).

6. Regarding Claim 4, Matsuoka et al (Figs.1 and 3-6) shows a magnetic recording and reproduction apparatus, further comprising a plurality of tape pull-out members (20,21) operable to pull out the tape from the tape cassette, wherein all of the plurality of tape pull-out members are provided on the sub chassis.

7. Regarding Claim 5, Matsuoka et al (Figs.1 and 3-6) shows a magnetic recording and reproduction apparatus, further comprising a plurality of tape pull-out members operable to pull out the tape from the tape cassette (20,21), wherein each of the plurality of tape pull-out members operates to pull-out the tape from the tape cassette as the sub chassis moves (Col 6, lines 24-52) from the tape mountable position to the tape pull-out completion position.

8. Regarding Claim 6, Matsuoka et al (Figs.1 and 3-6) shows a magnetic recording and reproduction apparatus further comprising: a plurality of tape pull-out members operable to pull out the tape from the tape cassette (Col 6, lines 24-52); at least one guide member (20') for pulling at least one of the plurality of tape pull-out members; at least one arm (28) for driving the

at least one tape pull-out member (20); and a link member (22) for connecting one of the at least one tape pull-out member and one of the at least one arm; wherein the at least one guide member is provided on the main chassis the at least one arm is provided on the sub chassis; the link member is pivotably engaged with the one of the at least one tape pull-out member at one end of the link member and is pivotably engaged with the one of the at least one arm at another end of the link member (Col 6, lines 24-52).
